

Exchange of experience and partnership programs in the field of improvement of patient safety conditions in hospitals

HU12- Bilateral Action - 2

Background

The American Institute of Medicine in its publication of 1999, titled To Err Is Human, pointed out the gravity of patient safety in health care. This study indicates a 1:10 ratio of adverse events in the case of in-patients admitted to treatment in hospital. Surveys reveal that the underlying factors pertain to the flaws in planning such as system functionality (e.g.: work schedule, storage of equipment), procedures (e.g.: procurement, distribution of medicine) in addition to the overall environment that can be characterised by crowding, stress, time-pressure. Personal liability can only be established in 10-15% of the cases. One may conclude that significant reduction of adverse events can be achieved by minimising contingency in systems and processes, mapping and reducing effects of the operational environment. Results cannot be produced by simply finding and punishing "culprits".

As an outcome of these surveys, patient safety has been placed in the focus of quality assurance, and has become a general focal objective in public health programmes. Recognising its significance, the EU launched its Joint Action on Patient Safety and Quality of Health Care for 2012-15 targeting improvement of patient safety in member states. Immediate goal is the implementation of the Council Recommendation (2009/C 151/01) of 9 June 2009 on patient safety, including the prevention and control of healthcare associated infections.

The State Secretariat for Health aims to improve patient safety and to keep it in focus by means of various provisions in order to improve public health and better access to health care.

Purpose of this call is to establish new partnerships and to strengthen existing partnerships with domestic institutions of the donor country. The expected output is the extended network and enlarged knowledge base of the project owner to further facilitate the overall improvement of patient safety in Hungary by primarily reducing the number of adverse events.

The present guideline serves to assist the Project Promoter with the terms and conditions of the project proposal. Present document has to be read in conjunction with the General Application Guide, which can be found on the official Hungarian website of the Norwegian Financial Mechanism in Hungarian (<http://www.norvegalap.hu/altalanos-palyazati-utmutato>) and in English (<http://www.norvegalap.hu/altalanos-palyazati-utmutato>).
